RAIN, RAIN, plenty of rain! We have not had a day and a night pass since the 1st of August without a shower, and this week we had as heavy a rain as has fallen here since this part of New Mexico settled. Ponds and tanks are filled to overflowing, the ground is soaked deep, and it is still raining.

MONTGOMERY.

Davis, Okla.,

Aug 12.

Mr. Cowgill,

Dear Sir and friend:

I am back in Oklahoma, but I don't like it much, it is so hot, and so many chills in this part. I am working right along but feel like chilling. I had rather live in New Mexico on Speckled beans than to live here. Crops are good here—corn and cotton.

J. D. Montgomery.

Staggers Skeptics.

Staggers Skeptics. That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scalds, wound or piles, staggers skeptics. But great cures prove it's a wonderful healer of the worst ulcers, boils, felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it. 25c at all Druggists.

Don't They?

The advice given to young men by college presidents and others to go west and grow up with the country is of course with the proviso that they may come to New York to spend the fortune after it is acquired.—N. Y. Press.

Found.

The laziest man in New York has at last been found. He was discovered last Tuesday evening on the ground floor of the Times building. He got into one of the revolving doors and then waited for the next man to come along and push the door around. —New York Times.

Life and Strife.

The law of the worthy life is fundamentally the law of strife. It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Life on The Panama Canal.

Life on the Panama Canal has had one frightful drawback—malaria trouble—that has brought suffering and death to thousands. The germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "Three bottles completely cured me of a very severe attack of malaria," writes Wm. A. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had good health ever since." The Philosopher of Folly.

Value of Reading Aloud.

Reading aloud is a splendid exercise for the voice. It gives intelligence and makes the voice clear and limpid. If it is not possible to read to a group one should read aloud to oneself at least ten minutes a day.

Price of Advancement.

True advancement is only possible through self-sacrifice.
Lowell's noblest thing, a woman perfected.—Lowell.

Gladstone's Memory.

Gladstone's power of memory was always one of his greatest assets. In his last years he often lamented that it was not what it had been; but even so, it came triumphantly out of some remarkable tests. In his eighty-third year he set himself to recall Manzoni's ode on the death of Napoleon, which, as a young man, he had translated into English. He had entirely forgotten his own version, but by dint of hard "digging" or "fishing up," as he called it, he wrote down 104 of the 108 Italian lines. Two years later he essayed to write from memory a complete list of all the men who had been his cabinet colleagues, and enumerated 69 of the 70.

A Democratic Capital.

Here in Washington all men are equal. Even the diplomats who come here from abroad soon get the spirit. They go skating and horseback riding without ceremony. They have the same rights as everybody else, but no more. And the result usually is picturesque and cosmopolitan. Exceedingly democratic and informal is the capital of the United States.—Washington Post.

Lengthen the Hours of Sleep.
"Insufficient sleep," says a physician, "is one of the crying evils of the day. Work and pleasure encroach upon the hours of rest, and body and mind deteriorate in consequence. Even the children have their hours of sleep shortened and suffer all their lives in consequence. A child of ten or eleven rarely gets more than eight or nine hours' sleep, whereas it should have ten or eleven. Up to 20 at least nine hours of sleep are needed, and an average adult needs eight. There may be an occasional Napoleon who can get along with four hours sleep a night, but if you happen to belong to that class nature will tell you by waking you up at the proper time and you don't need to interfere."

Uncle Ezra Says:

"Ef some young men would put ez much energy into the rest uv the farm work ez they put into sowin' wild oats, they'd discover a good deal more money in farmin'."

Value of College Education.

"Do you think a college education helps a man in business?" "Sure, I've had two college boys here workin' for me durin' the last year, and I was afraid to discharge either one of 'em for fear they'd find fault with my grammar when I done it."—Chicago Record Herald.

Value of Cheerful Voice.

A well-trained voice has a value in every line of work—stenography, telephone operator, canvasser, masseuse, and in many other lines of work. One of the best masseuses in Chicago, who has more customers than she can take, is as well known for her pleasant, cheerful voice as for her good work.
